PREFACE

This book of history and genealogy, both written and pictorial has been compiled for many reasons. It is our purpose to preserve all of the early family history which is remembered or has been obtained from various sources still available. This will fulfill many dreams of members of the family who have been inspired to seek out the family records at different times. To seek our genealogical information is a direct commandment given by revelation, and it also gives us the opportunity to show the love and respect which we should give to those who have helped give us our heritage. It is our desire to make these records as complete as possible so they will be of value to everyone.

Much of the information has been gleaned from various sources at a tremendous cost of effort, time and money, and a great deal of it would have been unavailable for most of us. Many of the pictures which have been submitted are priceless and could never be duplicated again. This record only includes events up to January 1, 1959.

It is our ambition to encourage a stronger family organization by making it easier to learn about each family — where they live, what their occupations are and their characteristics which are of interest to other members of the family and are worthy of being recorded.

Our ancestors have left to us a priceless heritage and we hope this book will instill into the hearts of all of us the desire to make the most of our blessings and opportunities which we enjoy in this wonderful promised land. We want to bring this information together where it will be available to all who are interested. It is natural for us to want to learn of our progenitors, to know and understand their lives as we do those of our living relatives.

To Isaac Brockbank Jr., we owe a debt of gratitude for the wonderful treasure he left to the family in the autobiography he wrote when he was fifty years old. He has preserved for us a true record of the beginnings, background and traditions of the Brockbank family in England. The intimate details he wrote give us an insight into the hearts and lives of our ancestors. His record gives a clear and interesting account of the happiness and hardships of the pioneers, and the ideals which they were ever striving to make part of their lives. Much valuable information has been preserved only because of his record.

This book is the effort of many but it seems necessary to acknowledge some who have been instrumental in bringing our records to publication.

We wish to pay special tribute to Merrill Jex Brockbank, the first president of the Brockbank Family Organization, who instigated the Brockbank reunions and hoped for a book like this.

To Bernard Park Brockbank, past president, who contributed so generously from his own funds to pay for all the genealogical research done for several years.

To W. Hughes Brockbank, our president and financial chairman. It has been his responsibility to make arrangements for the printing of the book.

To Betty Ruth Brockbank Jenson, our family genealogist, who has spent thousands of hours searching and copying records, traveling great distances, interviewing, compiling, collecting and arranging pictures. She has written hundreds of letters to relatives which have yielded wonderful stories of family history. These make fascinating reading not only for Brockbank, Mainwaring and Brown descendants, but for others who are interested in the character and human interest stories of pioneer ancestors. She has almost singlehandedly compiled this book from many cooperative sources.

To George Rulon Jenson, whose cooperation and encouragement made the compiler's work possible.

To Lois Brockbank Rowe, who has been the secretary of the family organization since its inception. She has typed, advised and helped in many ways.

To Miriam Cohen Brockbank who has worked so diligently on Grandfather Isaac's history and the Isaac Jr. line, and has done much to aid the compiler.

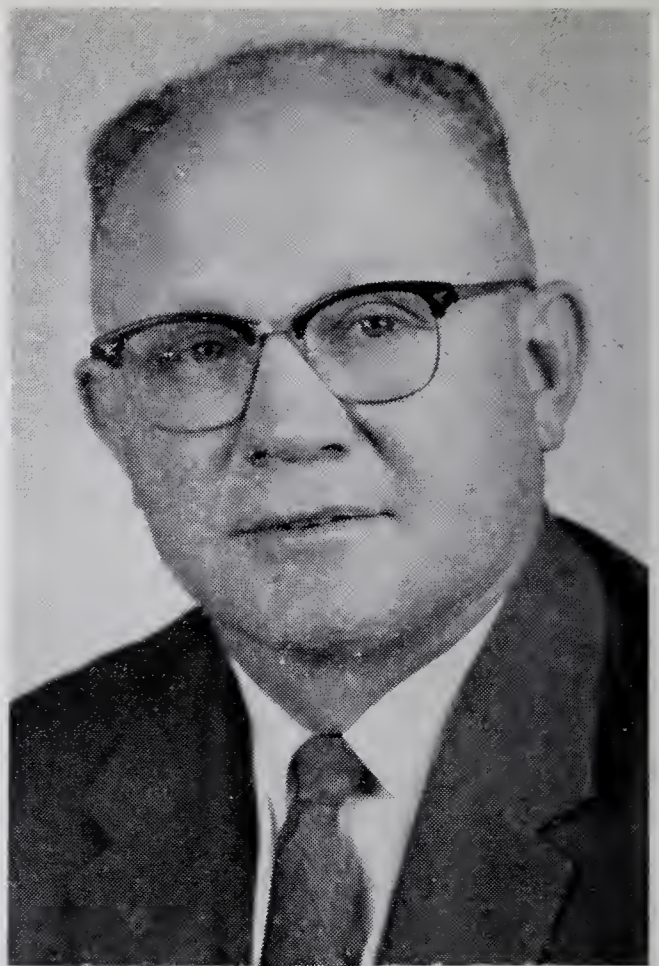

To Aileen Hales Clyde for helpful criticism and cooperation in getting the book ready for publication.

To Jesse Stott for the picture of Elizabeth Mainwaring Brockbank which his mother gave to him, with the information that this was his great-grandmother Brockbank.

To all members of the family who have graciously submitted their own family records and photographs.

KEY

ARRANGEMENT: The ancestral record of Isaac Brockbank, Sr. appears first; this followed by the records of his descendants. Each of his children and their descendants appear in the order of their birth.

REFERENCE NUMBERS: Each family has been independently numbered. The individual reference number of each descendant is found in two places, first where the name appears as a child, and second, where it appears as a head of a family in the next generation. Small Roman numbers such as i, ii, iii, appear next to the name of each child indicating his position in his own immediate family. When a child has only his Roman prefix and no other reference number, it indicates that he never married or died as a child and is therefore not carried forward. He is referred to by his parent's number plus his own family position prefix. i.e. 4-ii JOSHUA RICHARD BORCKBANK means that Joshua is the second child of Joshua Brockbank Number 4; he died, did not marry and is therefore not carried into the next generation.

MINUS NUMBERS: These numbers indicate the ancestors on the direct lines of Isaac Sr., Elizabeth Mainwaring, and Sarah Brown. These numbers are found in the manuscript as well as on the pedigree charts. The higher the number, the farther back the ancestry from the above named people. i.e. -2 is Isaac Brockbank, grandfather of Isaac Brockbank, Sr. who was the pioneer.

CAPITALIZED NAMES: A capitalized name is that of a person who is head of a family. In the line below follow the names of his ancestral blood line by generation, each name being given its corresponding generation number. i.e. WILLIS MAINWARING BROCKBANK (3)
Joshua (2), Isaac Sr. (1).

SOURCE: Wherever possible the source of material has been credited to the informant by his name. Research films have been given library code listings such as F-Utah 16 p. 2 and designated as cemetery records, ward records, etc. GS is an abbreviation for Genealogical Society of Utah.

BIOGRAPHIES AND PHOTOGRAPHS: Space limitations and printing costs permitted only first, second, and third generation biographical sketches, and limited the use of photographs to include the third generation.

INDEXING: A complete index has been prepared of all the Isaac Brockbank, Sr. families, their in-laws and their parents. In case of identical names birth years also appear. Female members are listed under their maiden names.

MULTIPLE MARRIAGES: When a family member has married more than once, the in-laws have been referred to by letters "A" standing for the first marriage, "B" second marriage, etc.

SYMBOLS: Born-b. or B.; died d.; son or S.; daughter or Dau.; married-md.; divorced-div.; baptized-bap.; endowed-end.

ALL BAPTISMS, ENDOWMENTS, AND SEALED TO HUSBAND DATES ARE CHURCH OF JESUS CHRIST OF LATTER-DAY SAINTS DATA EXCEPT WHERE OTHERWISE INDICATED.

BIBLIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH OF ISAAC BROCKBANK, SR.

By
ISAAC BROCKBANK, JR.

My father was the eldest son of Daniel and Agnes Morris Brockbank. He was raised in the locality of his birthplace, which was Bowness, Westmoreland County, England. He followed an agricultural life and made it an especial point to be a good farm hand, particularly a good plowman. He won many prizes at County Fairs that he attended during his early manhood. He took great pride in referring to such events in his later life. As he developed into manhood he tired of the monotony of a farmer's life and determined, much against the wishes of his mother, (his father having died early) to go to Liverpool.

He was always quite religiously inclined and early in life became attached to the Wesleyan Methodists. After his arrival in Liverpool he was appointed a class leader among that body. In his associations there he became acquainted with the young lady who afterward became my mother. She was a very zealous member. She had been bereaved of a husband by the name of Smith with whom she had lived but a short time, but the particulars of which I have never learned. Through the influence of the class to which she and my father belonged, a union was consummated.

At the time of his marriage to Elizabeth Mainwaring, he was employed in a brewery where he had learned the manufacture of ale and beer, of which he was always fond, and continued to make it for his own use, even in later life. He changed his employment to the Booth Water Company, and lived on the property of this company on Crosbie Street. Large cisterns of water and iron pipe for mains were kept here. During the day he was assigned to Queen's Dock, going among ships from all parts of the world, supplying their water needs and keeping an account of the same. Between his employment and his calling among the Methodists, he was well known and greatly respected as a sincere and faithful servant of the company he represented.

In the year 1843 my father heard Parley P. Pratt, a Mormon Apostle, deliver a discourse at the Royal Amphitheatre. He was so overwhelmed at the truth of the doctrine advanced that he could no more advocate the tenets of the Methodist faith. It was but a few weeks before he was baptized and became a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. My mother, however, still maintained her adhesion to the Methodists and used every means in her power to thwart her husband, and seemed filled with hatred for any person who claimed to belong to the Mormon Church.

To assist her in her antipathy, her Methodist friends would take particular pleasure in calling upon her in the absence of my father and urge upon her to do many things to show indignity to my father and his new friends. (Of course, such proceedings could not go very far without causing a rupture between them that was never eradicated.) That spirit of hatred seemed to grow upon her that she would resort to any means to get her revenge upon him and his associates and though often some of the American Elders would come to the house and try to reconcile her to calmly investigate the truths of the Gospel, she set her face against it as a flint and so matters continued. At one time she got so terribly upset because my father had gone to a meeting, called at that time a Council Meeting held on a week night, that she took all the Mormon books, papers, etc. that she could find and burned them. This, of course, intensified him and so he commenced a system of punishing her by flogging and though there were children born to him by her under this condition of affairs, there never seemed to exist any more comfort or happiness in the household afterward.

My father made up his mind to change his occupation, and having a little means, went into the retail meat trade. After a few months he went into the wholesale end of the business. In this he was associated with Brother Robert Wiley, a member of the Church. For a number of years they would go to the cattle market and buy live sheep and cattle and slaughter them and sell them to the retail trade. This seemed to be a lucrative business, but bad debts kept it from being too good.

My father made preparations for emigrating to America, getting ready, though I knew very well that my mother was very indifferent about it, seeming to treat the matter as though she did not purpose going. She used all the influence she could with us children to have us remain and let my father go. We had promised father to go with him, and at last my mother consented to go, as she said, solely on account of the children. After we got our outfit on ship board, we sailed from Victoria Dock, on February 11, 1852. We boarded a merchant ship fitted for emigrants, called the Ellen Maria. The captain was named Whitmore and we had a rough voyage, with calms succeeding storms, and were eight weeks and three days in arriving at New Orleans. Here we transferred our luggage to a river steamer to go up the Mississippi to St. Louis.

Here we stayed two days and took the steamer St. Ange for Kansas City where we arrived in three days from that time. On our way up the river, we stopped for a short time at Atchison to see some of the sufferers by the steamer Saluda who had been blown up by the steamer boiler exploding while at the levee here. There were a number of the Saints on this vessel who were among the sufferers. It was a sickening sight to see these unfortunates scalded and deformed, some without arms or legs and some without eyes. I was glad to get away from such suffering. Upon our arrival at Kansas, it was thought advisable by Brother Smoot, who was appointed the President of the Company, to remain here for sometime as the wagons which were being made at St. Louis were not near finished and might be several weeks before being placed at the disposal of the Company.

This was the first Company that had traveled over the seas under the auspices of the Perpetual Emigration Fund Company and on their arrival here, they had to be taken care of and sheltered. To do this, most of the Company was taken to a point about three fourths of a mile from the river on an elevation where they pitched their tents and were made as comfortable as the circumstances would permit. The brethren and sisters having just got off from a long sea voyage and having been dieted on the hard tack and the commonest kind of food without any vegetable, when they got to this point, some of them dug some roots that they had been acquainted with in the Old Country. However, when they came to use these roots for food, the cholera broke out in the camp. This was a very sad affair. Here was a company of several hundred saints, temporarily located among a people who were hostile to the whole Mormon community and who had made their boasts that they had assisted in driving the Saints across the river some years before and that they were on hand to go through the same performance again. But as the scourge in the camp increased, and the brethren and sisters were dying off, alarm spread through the surrounding country and the result was that Indignation Meetings were held, and propositions made to have the Saints removed. But as the scourge continued, they were afraid to go near the camp. At this juncture the wagons commenced to arrive for the company and though the cattle had not come, the people who were well soon took possession of the wagons and oxen were hired to take the whole company out on the prairie some seven miles west of Kansas. At the camping grounds in Kansas many distressing scenes occurred. There were over twenty deaths in a few days and the people were in a very poor fix to take care of them. Rude boxes of any kind were made use of and the dead laid away without much ceremony.

My father rented a small house about half a mile from the camp and close by another house was rented by Brother William Collinson and the Thomas family, who were related. The Thomas family consisted of the mother, two sons, and three marriageable daughters, all apparently in good health. Here a circumstance occurred that made a lasting impression on my mind as to the truth of the Doctrine of Plural Marriage. While death was carrying off many of the Saints and fear was manifested as to the result, the announcement of this doctrine was made public as a cardinal principle of the Church. This threw consternation around the Saints, especially those who were not firmly grounded in the faith. Mrs. Thomas and my mother were among this number. Mrs. Thomas went so far as to say that she would rather her daughters would die than that they should become the wives of polygamists. I did not pay much attention to this at the time as they did not come with us, but after we got started on the plains, word came to us that two of the three daughters had died and the other was very ill.

In making preparations for the journey across the plains, my mother still maintained her indifference and it was very disheartening to start on a journey of 1,300 miles and no unity for us children. There were four of us — myself, and my sister Elizabeth, 16 months younger than myself; my brother, Joshua 4 years old, and my sister, Agnes a baby nursing at breast. There had been other children before leaving England either 3 or 4 but they had died in infancy, two of whom were buried in the Stanhope Street Methodist Chapel yard and another one at the Necropolis in Liverpool. I had forgotten to notice that at the time of my mother taking leave of her folks in Liverpool, she told them that if she was not suited on getting to the end of her journey at Salt Lake, that she would return to them. It was plain to us that she had this in her heart all the time and though she accompanied us, it was against her will.

However, as soon as the wagons and cattle were brought for our use, we loaded up our wagons and started out to where the train was then stopping, some 7 miles distant. On the way we got stuck in the mud at a small stream of water just west of Westport. We remained at this stream all night.

The next morning, we moved on to the camp of the Saints and found that there had been some more deaths but still the general health of the people was better and in a day or two, we rolled out for the Valley. This was about the first of June and as our teams were rather wild, we had to herd them along the best we could. In hitching up our team on the first camp ground, the wheel oxen swung around and twisted the tongue of the wagon so it broke but by splicing and wrapping with rope and rawhide it held together until we got through to the Valley. There was in the company 52 wagons, A. O. Smoot, Captain; Chris Layton, 1st Assistant Captain. We journeyed along without any particular incidents occurring. The weather was delightful and our teams getting more used to the work and the drivers getting more used to handling them.

We traveled about a hundred miles a week. In the latter part of July, as we journeyed along, my mother seemed more reconciled to the situation. We had no idea that she had the least intention of leaving the train. Her baby was not yet weaned. Just before noon we came to a very steep hill and before going down it those who had been riding in the wagons got out. My mother did the same, and giving the baby to my sister, went down the hill to where there was a quantity of wild currant bushes. This was the last place she was seen by any of the company. We didn't miss her until we were about two miles away. As soon as we found that she was not in the train, I took a mule and rode back to the place where we had last seen her. The next morning my father and Brother Layton took a light buggy and back-tracked as far as Fort Laramie. They found her footsteps around a spring and also on the road leading to Fort Laramie. The only trace they found of anyone seeing her was two men from a sheep camp who told of seeing a woman who ran from the road when she saw them. They did not follow her. It was decided that the company should move on as the authorities at Fort Laramie had said they would forward any information. We arrived in Salt Lake City on 4 September, 1852, being six months and three quarters from Liverpool.

We now began to realize what it was to be bereft of a mother, having a baby in our care and she up to this time living on the caresses and nourishment of a kind and indulgent mother. For no matter what her treatment was from my father, she was at all times willing to bear anything for the sake of her children and I cannot think, even at this time, that she wilfully went away from us. My own idea is that she may have been quite dispondent and tired and after getting out of the wagon, she may have lain down in the bushes and fallen asleep and on awakening found herself left behind and not knowing which way to go and wandering around, her brain would no doubt be affected by fear and despair and she would be oblivious to anything about her condition and most likely perished before getting to human aid. It took sometime to get the baby pacified, being unweaned. She cried night and day and the extra care devolved upon my sister Elizabeth. Of course we had the sympathy of the whole camp but no one could pacify the baby like my sister, consequently, she was pretty well tied and could do very little but care for the baby.

However, we got along tolerably well until my father took sick and had a serious time. He was confined to his bed on the wagon and became so reduced in flesh that many of the folks said that he could not possibly live. He had been getting worse for several days when one night he seemed to be suffering very much and he thought he would have to die. Several of the brethren got around him in the wagon and administered unto him and through their faith and prayers in his behalf, he immediately took a change for the better and very soon was able to be up again.

Being without the kindness and care of a wife my father was on the lookout for a companion. He knew of a sister named Sarah Brown who had been on the ship with us. As she was traveling in another company he made it a point to hunt her up. After some deliberation they decided to cast their lots together. Their wedding was celebrated at the home of Thomas Hall about the second of October.

On the sixth of October we rolled out of Salt Lake City as President Young had advised us to go South. We had two yoke of oxen, two cows, having paid one yoke of oxen for tithing. Bishop Hunter, who received them, could hardly believe that they had been driven across the plains. They were almost beef fat and ever afterward he would refer to those cattle with complimentary words. We traveled South and found excellent feed for our stock.

My father had purposed to go to Spanish Fork as he had good reports of that place. We traveled slowly, taking four days for the journey. We stopped at Palmyra Fort, which had just been surveyed. Finding a suitable piece of ground, we took off the box of the wagon and put up a small tent. We then dug a cellar for a shelter for the winter. It was not long before we had brush, cane and dirt on for a roof and in that cellar we took our abode.

Joshua and I slept in the wagon box until the weather became too severe. The next summer the Indians became hostile and the people moved to Spanish Fork and another fort was built at Main and 3rd South. We had two rooms in the southeast corner of the fort. We lived in one room while the other was used for Sunday School and religious meetings. A well was dug in the center of the fort to supply water. The two heavy gates at the south often admitted friendly Indians or Saints who came in and out when occasion required. After the Indians became more friendly many families left the fort and built small homes of their own. Father built a two room adobe house on the northwest corner of Center Street and Main. Joshua remembered hauling the dirt, to make adobes, from Springville with an ox team. It took all day from daylight until dark to haul one load. The Presidency of the Church had advised the people to have the water of the Spanish Fork Creek conveyed on the bench by means of a large ditch, to be made about 1½ miles long. In 1855 water ditches were dug and opened in the town and through the streets.

We had no chance for any employment and there had been very little grain raised in that locality, so we were under the necessity of disposing of some of our spare clothing for wheat. Money we had none and any kind of wearing apparel was in demand. After a time my father took on the job of threshing wheat. There was no machinery in the locality so my father used the flailing method which he had used as a boy. We were paid our board and every tenth bushel of wheat. Though he had not done any hard labor in years he was not afraid of it. We took our small store of wheat twelve miles to have it ground into flour.

During that fall a great many settlers came to this section. Soon there were a great number of cellars dug out and occupied by the settlers. During that winter the town was nearly all underground, though a few had put up log huts.

The pieces of land were allotted by withdrawal of slips from a hat. This gave everyone an equal chance. The ground was uneven and had never been broken, and required two teams to break it up. The settlers combined their teams and helped each other out in this way. It became evident that this ground was not desirable, as it contained too much mineral. On the advice of President Brigham Young a new place was surveyed and plotted. We had to build a fort and wall as protection against the Indians. We also made ditches for water, which up to now had been hauled in casks. My father and I helped in laying out the new fort, carrying the chain and locating the ditches and streets.

The new piece of land which my father got was near the town site, and was the best piece of land he ever had. We moved there and built a home. A separate ward was organized with Brother William Pace as Bishop, and H. B. M. Jolly as first, and my father as second counselors.

My father had some peculiarities about his home government and the treatment of his wife and children that made matters very unpleasant. He was very penurious about furnishings to his own, but at the same time always a hand to aid others. In this way, he became very often the victim of unscrupulous men that live by taking advantage of their fellows. The family did not enjoy that degree of sociability that they might have, nor did the children feel that love and affection for their father that they might have had. A good deal of this was exhibited all through his married life, and I suppose he entailed it from his ancestry somewhere. I make this allusion to my father, not by way of censure, for I believe he meant to be a good man. He seemed to have the interests of the Church uppermost in his mind, and was willing to make any sacrifice for it. He loved to be regarded by his brethren and sisters as a faithful and upright man, at the same time he did not have the endearing confidences of his own family. He set such examples before them as would be worthy of their being followed. He was somewhat sulky and of an overbearing disposition and by it, entailing more fear than love among his own offspring. Still his children have all been faithful to the church and are strictly honorable and greatly respected among the people where they dwell and I trust that they all feel to profit by the experience that they gained before they left the family hearth and that they will be able to avoid the rocks and shoals that seemed to hedge up the way of their Father.

Isaac Brockbank, Sr., continued to live in Spanish Fork, where he played a big part in the growth of that town in spite of the handicaps of the adverse conditions of pioneer life. He was always active in his church and community.

(For more complete information about the family history read Isaac Jr.'s Autobiography which was published in 1951.)

ELIZABETH MAINWARING

Elizabeth Mainwaring was a kind and loving mother. She was also a good daughter to her mother. The mother had been ill for some time with a mental ailment caused from the effects of the cholera scourge of 1835. A younger daughter, Mary, a pleasant and agreeable young lady, had been living with her mother and taking care of her. In 1844, owing to the continued care needed, Elizabeth and her husband, Isaac Brockbank, moved to the mother's home at No. 30 Adlington Street, to help in the care of the older woman.

Elizabeth was intensely religious and active in the Methodist Church. When Isaac joined the Mormon Church she was very much upset. She went to great lengths to let him know of her displeasure and maintained her adherence to Methodism. Her husband was of a somewhat stern nature and even resorted to flogging to try to enforce his will with her. This was perhaps not unusual in that country and time.

When Isaac decided to come to America she was very much against it. When she found that she could not dissuade him nor the children, she consented to go for the sake of the children. That peace and harmony in the family relationship was gone there is no doubt. She told some of her people that if things did not work out in the new country she would return to England.

The weariness encountered in the sea voyage and the dangerous journey overland by wagon train must have been a terrible strain on her. Whether she was trying to return to her home and deliberately left the train, or was inadvertently left behind is something which will never be known. What happened to her is also not known. If she was taken by the Indians or perished some other way has never been determined.

She must have been of strong character to endure the things which she was called upon to do. She was strong in her belief of what was right and tried to impress these things upon her children.

LIFE OF SARAH BROWN BROCKBANK

By Mary Brockbank Creer

In a small village in Harefield, Middlesex, England, my grandmother, Sarah Brown, was born. Her parents had eleven children, all born there except one brother, Nathaniel, who was born in Uxbridge, Middlesex County. Her family were religious people, most of them belonging to the Methodist Church.

At a very early age in her life the Latter-day Saint Missionaries came to the Brown home and brought to them a message of the restored gospel of Jesus Christ. Sarah was the only one touched by the spirit of this new doctrine. She investigated this new religion, read her Bible, and after a clear vision of this newly revealed religion, she became thoroughly converted to the truth of it. She was soon baptized and confirmed a member of the Church.

She was anxious to come to Zion and join with the Saints of God. She left her home, her parents, brothers, sisters and friends to go to a new land where the Saints were gathering. She was the only one of her family converted to the gospel at that time. Later, a brother, Joseph, joined the church and came to Utah. Sometime after, a niece of hers, Flora Brown, heard the gospel message. She married Edward Moneke and they lived at Grand Rapids, Michigan. They were both members of the Church. It was from this relative that I received information about the Brown family.

Little did Sarah know or realize the trials and sacrifices she was to endure in this new adventure. Her faith was unwavering and her love for the truth was bright in her heart. She was anxious to make her new life with the members of the Church. When she left her home to cross the wide expanse of ocean, which lasted many weeks, it is quite a coincidence that on this voyage was a convert of the Church from northern England, who some day was to become her husband. Isaac Brockbank was this convert. During this trek across the plains he lost his wife, leaving him with four motherless children. Those children were Isaac, Joshua, Elizabeth and Agnes. Grandfather Isaac married my grandmother, Sarah, in Salt Lake City in 1852.

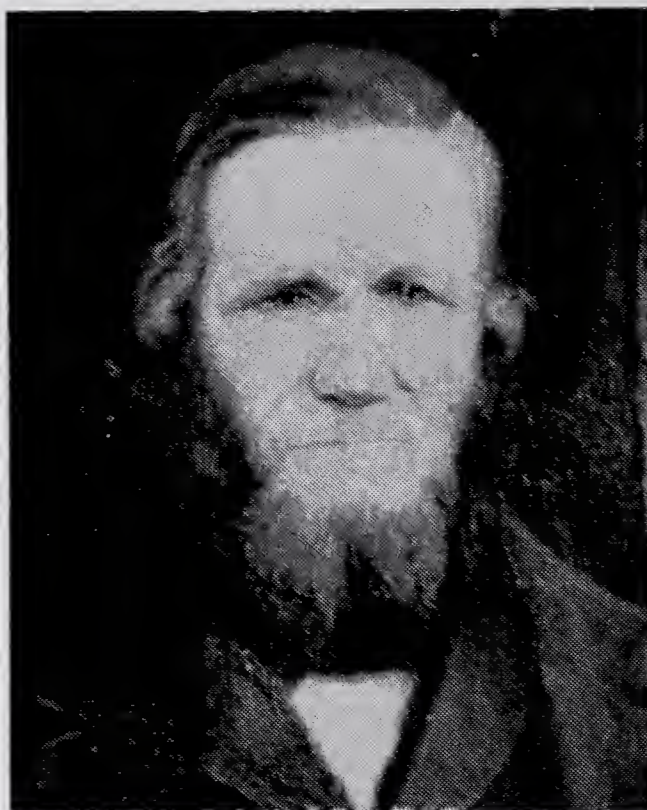

They were sent by Brigham Young to Spanish Fork to start a new settlement and a new life. This new life was not an easy one. It meant struggling to make a home, to get food to sustain life, to get clothing for warmth, to build a fort for protection from the Indians. We, in this prosperous age with every convenience, cannot adequately realize the very difficult task required to sustain life. It took faith, courage and hard work to procure just the bare needs. Grandmother cared for the motherless children as best she could until they were of age and married. She had five children of her own. One died in infancy and one died when 12 years old. Three lived — Samuel, Joseph and Martha Ann. These three children lived at Spanish Fork all their lives, married and raised their children there.

Grandfather died before I was born. I can just remember my grandmother. All I know are incidents told me by my father and mother. I do remember going across the street to see Grandmother. She always wanted to serve me something to eat. She made me some Mormon tea, which was hot water, milk and sugar, and a cookie. She was a great lover of the Bible. I can see her now in her rocking chair, reading her Bible.

I can remember my mother telling me this incident. When Grandmother came to Utah and learned more about our religion and its glorious promises for the future, she became very interested in her family who were left in England. She told Mother that at one time her brother, Thomas, had borrowed $20.00 from her. He neglected to pay her the money, but Grandmother always remembered this debt. Learning that temple work could be done for others, she prayed that her brother would send her the $20.00 he owed her so she could do temple work for her family. Her prayers were answered and her brother sent her the money, which she and father used for temple work for the Brown family in 1878.

Grandmother was industrious, honest and faithful. She was a noble character. She endured without complaint the trials and hardships that beset her path. She loved the gospel and was true and obedient to the doctrines which she knew to be true.

SECTION IV

FROM AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF ISAAC BROCKBANK, JR.

Started in 1887 and added to at various times in his life.

“As I recall my childhood and events and happenings, they may not be exact as I view them from the age of fifty years and my memory may not be too good.

“During week days I attended Cornwallis Street School, and though I was not more than seven or eight years old, I was set to teach a class of still younger children. On Sunday we attended a Methodist Sunday School.

“At one time we moved into my mother’s mother’s home to help with her care as she had not been well for some years. At this time I attended St. John’s Church School in Great Cross Hall Street, both day and Sunday School. I made good progress in my studies there, and for my age was considered a fair scholar in the common branches. The head master was named Strict, and he was strict by name and by nature. I was placed in charge of a class of smaller children in this school also. It was a requirement of this school that all who attended the day school must also attend the Sabbath School and the church services. My father, having been converted to Mormonism, was opposed to my remaining at this school. So I went to Christ Church School and attended the Mormon services on Sunday.

“When my father was in the meat business he bought a delivery cart and horse. It was my duty to travel around town to the retail butcher shops each week and collect the money due us. On one occasion I had a load of meat and when I was going down a steep hill the animal I was driving became unmanageable. At a cross street I made a turn, as I knew the cart would pile up at the bottom. This turn was so sudden that I was thrown off the cart, which turned over. The meat was upset and the horse ran off as hard as it could go. I sustained injuries and bruises and both of my knee bones were knocked out of joint, and the main bones of my legs were injured.

In 1848 I left school and went as an office boy to a firm of attorneys and solicitors. My duties were to copy letters, run errands, carry mail to and from the post office, and make copies of legal documents. For a short time I went to the Mechanics Institute and Advanced School. It was at this time that my father made preparations to go to America.

“I was very desirous of seeing my father’s relatives before leaving the country. They lived about sixty miles north of Liverpool on the banks of beautiful Windemere Lake. I was very much attached to this place, among so many who took an interest in me, the beautiful scenery and the opportunity for pleasure in the boats. My relatives were very desirous to have me remain with them.

“After the family emigrated to this country we settled in Spanish Fork. I helped my father with the farm and the stock. We went through several winters when food was very scarce. There were also Indian uprisings and it was my duty to help guard the settlement. In the winter of 1856 an Elder's Quorum was organized in the Spanish Fork Ward and I was ordained and appointed clerk of the same. I had previously been ordained a Priest in 1852.

"In the fall of 1858 I opened a small business in American Fork selling general dry goods and groceries. At that time, in partnership with another man, we obtained contracts for carrying U. S. mail south of Salt Lake City. I set up the route and provided animals along the way. One night the animal I rode, not being fully broken, got scared and threw me out of the saddle to the ground. I was over thirty-five miles from any settlement and on foot. There was a light snow on the ground and I tried to keep up with the horse and ran, following him the whole distance. Fortunately for me the horse came to the place where he got his grain. He had kept the saddle on and the mail was safe.

"In the spring of 1858 I met the family of William Howard. Their eldest daughter, Kate, was not indifferent to my overtures, and I made it convenient to visit their home in Cottonwood. Our attachment ripened into love and we married June 25, 1860. I then became associated with my father-in-law in the tannery business. We did fairly well and lived in comparative comfort.

"I married Mary Ann Park in January of 1865. Her family was one of those designated by President Young to aid in the settlement of Provo. My experience with the practice of plural marriage has not been as pleasant as I could wish. Never the less, I have this testimony to bear: that I know for myself that it was ordained of God and is designed for the purification of His children. When practiced according to the requirements of the Gospel it will bring peace, joy and happiness to both men and women who embrace it.

"A contract with the Union Pacific Railroad to build a section of that road was entered into by Pres. Young during the winter of 1867. I had teams and wagons and a hired man and joined with a number of others to do this work. The road bed was to be from Echo Canyon to Promontory Point.

"For a short time I was engaged in the mining business with Mr. Howard but it was not successful as the claims proved worthless.

"I was set apart as a counselor to Bishop Sheets of the Eighth Ward in 1871, continuing in this position for twenty years. This same year I was engaged to keep accounts, particularly of livestock, as a clerk in the Tithing Office. At the death of Brigham Young I was one of the watchers over his corpse the night before the funeral.

"I was elected a member of the Salt Lake City Council in February of 1878. Among the items considered at this time were the improvement and management of the City Cemetery, also the management of the City Jail, the treatment and economy of handling the housing and feeding of prisoners. Another very important matter was the necessity of having an increased water supply. Methods of constructing canals and using those in existence was discussed at length, but this was not passed at this time. Later it was done at considerable more cost than if it had been handled according to the recommendations made at this time. This would have taken care of the city's water needs for years.

"The Edwards Law, making it a crime to live under polygamy, was passed by Congress in 1882. I was continually cautioned to beware of this and to go away from home if I wanted to stay out of prison. My duties at the Tithing Office were such that I was busy all of the time, and I considered this to be of utmost importance. Hundreds of the brethren were arrested and sentenced for the full term of six months and the payment of the extreme amount of $300. In September of 1886 a warrant was issued for my arrest. I posted a bond of $1,000 and went about my business. My family was then called to appear before the Grand Jury. In order to spare them the pain of appearing I made application to appear before the Grand Jury and answer any questions they might have. This I did in order that they might not be degraded. With many other brethren I pleaded guilty and we were sent to the State Prison for a term of six months and fined the extreme amount. We were placed with all manner of criminals from murderers and thieves to all kinds of evil men. This was a most trying time and though many of the brethren were men of good breeding we were jeered at by these men.

"After my release I undertook a contract to build a railroad bed or grade of fourteen miles, from the shores of Great Salt Lake to the City. This is now the present Saltair Railroad. I also did the excavating for some of the buildings in Salt Lake City, among them the Cathedral of the Madeline, the Consolidated Wagon, and the site of the store where Auerbachs store is now. I have also served Salt Lake County as Bailiff and Deputy Sheriff. At various times I have ventured into the mining business, but mostly with disastrous results.

"My wife, Katherine, though always delicate, has raised seven children to maturity. She has also been active in the women's organizations of the Church. She was Counselor of the Granite Stake Relief Society for twelve years. She is a member of the Press Club and of the Daughters of the Pioneers. She came to Utah in 1853 with her parents, who were among the first settlers of Cottonwood.

"My wife, Mary Ann Park, has raised ten of her twelve children to man and womanhood. She has been a good mother and Latter-day Saint, and has trained her family in the ways of the gospel, as has Kate. Mary Ann came to Utah in September of 1847, being a little more than three years old. Of the great journey she remembers vividly the herds of buffalo and the many Indians — many of them were not very friendly."

Note: Isaac passed away on March 4, 1927, at the age of eighty-nine years. He and Katherine lived together for sixty-six years and nine months. At one time they held the honor of being the oldest married couple in the state. She died at the age of eighty-five, on December 27, 1928. Mary Ann lived to be ninety-eight, passing away on August 18, 1941. She was the last surviving pioneer of 1847.

SECTION V

ELIZABETH BROCKBANK BUSHNELL

By Inez B. Allred

Elizabeth Brockbank was born 8 November, 1839, in Liverpool, England. She remembered going to church every Sunday with her father, who taught a class. This was the Wesleyan Methodist Church, and then there was talk of her father joining another church and planning to go to America. Their mother was not too happy about this, but Elizabeth and her elder brother, Isaac, wanted to go. Their mother came, of course, and the children were delighted with the prospect of crossing the ocean and seeing a big, new country. Salt Lake City was only a name to them, but they knew the Saints were gathering there.

They sailed from the Victoria Dock at Liverpool on February 11, 1852, on a merchant ship that had been fitted up for emigrants, the Ellen Marie, with Captain Whitmore. In eight weeks and two days they reached New Orleans. It had been a rough voyage. They took a steamer up the Mississippi River to St. Louis. After two days they took the St. Ange to Kansas City. While going up the Mississippi they saw the survivors of the Saluda; a boiler on that ship had exploded, and many passengers were burned. Elizabeth never forgot the suffering she saw there.

While they waited in Kansas City for wagons, cholera broke out in the camp of the Saints. This condition and other discouragements caused many of the people the Brockbanks had become acquainted with to re-consider the journey. However, the Brockbanks moved on.

Elizabeth knew her mother was very upset at leaving these friends and continuing the journey to a place she had little desire to see. She did everything she could for the children, but to everything else she seemed quite indifferent. The Company was in charge of A. O. Smoot and had been making about one hundred miles a week. The latter part of July they passed Fort Laramie, and one day just before noon they came to a very steep hill. Her mother got out of the wagon to walk with some other women. Wild currant bushes were full of fruit, especially at the foot of the hill where there was a good patch of them near the water. This was the last place Mother Brockbank was seen by any of the company. She was not missed until they camped for noon. Her son, Isaac, hurriedly rode back to the bushes and called and called, but she was not there.

Camp was made on Horse Shoe Creek and Elizabeth's father and Chris Layton, Captain Smoot's first assistant, went back to look for her. They found pony tracks near the water, and they hurried on to Fort Laramie, but there was no trace of her. The authorities there were sympathetic and promised to send word to Salt Lake if any trace of her was found, but it was thought the Indians had stolen her. It was impossible for her husband to forget that she did not want to come and had said, "If I don't like it there I will return."

With this worry on his mind, Elizabeth's father became very ill, which added to the anxiety of her mind. He was confined to his bed in the wagon and many thought he would die. But with the faith and prayers of the people and the elders who administered to him and sat over him, he began to get well.

Agnes, the youngest child, was not weaned and she cried day and night. Everyone was kind and tried to help Elizabeth but she was the only one who could do anything for the baby. Her own grief was put aside in order for her to mother the children and help her father. They arrived in Salt Lake City on the 4th of September, and were met on Union Square by many of the Saints. President Young was there to welcome them and give them advice about their diet until they got used to the mountain climate. The Brockbank family was to stay with the Thomas Hall family in the 19th Ward until they decided where to go. They stayed there about a month.

On the 2nd of October, Elizabeth's father married a lady who had come from England in the same company, Sarah Brown. On the 6th they left for Utah County, where they were to settle. On the 10th they reached Palmyra, and here they made a dugout of good size to live in, and began to prepare for the winter. They got flour for threshing wheat on shares, doing the work with a "flail". Their cows managed to live among the willows along the lake and wintered fairly well. Winter came early, and before it ended they had to trade some of their clothes for food. In this way they got some potatoes, and they shot jack rabbits.

One day Elizabeth's father sent her to fetch the cow home from the willow patch. Just as she was on her way home she saw a big Indian coming after her. When she ran he ran too, so she ran into a patch of brush, and falling on her knees she asked God to save her. The Indian followed her into the brush, but God answered her prayers by blinding his eyes. He began poking the brush and hitting around with a big stick, almost striking her. He finally gave up and went away. When her fear subsided she crawled out of the brush and began running towards home. She met her father who had become alarmed at her long absence and was on his way to find her.

The Indians became very troublesome, and the soil was full of alkali and very poor, so Brigham Young advised them to move to Spanish Fork. The water was better there too. They built an adobe house and moved there in 1854.

When she was fifteen, and the family was still living in Palmyra, she went to live with a family named Pollock. They were quite well fixed because they had been in the valley for some time. Mr. Pollock used this to persuade her to marry him and go with his older wife to southern Utah, where he had been called. She started south with them, but before they reached Fillmore she repented of her rash act in marrying an older man and leaving home while so young. There she found a friend whom she had known in Salt Lake. She refused to go on, and this friend hid her and stood by her. Some time later, President Young came through Fillmore on his way to Dixie. She went to him and told him her story, asking that he help her. Her marriage was annulled by his order.

She married John Bushnell who had been sent to Fillmore by Pres. Young. They had the first post office, and a little store. Elizabeth kept the books and cooked for the mail carriers. Her brother, Isaac, was one of the first mail carriers to Fillmore. Their first four children were born there, and then they heard President Young preach a sermon about providing for your own by having something for them to do. They wanted to get on a farm where the boys would be employed at home. They traded their property in Fillmore for farm land in Meadow, and were one of the first families to live there.

When the Primary was organized there by Zina D. Young and Eliza R. Snow, she was chosen as a counselor to Sarah Stott. When Sister Stott died she became the second Primary President in Meadow. Later she served as counselor in the Relief Society to Martha Bennett. She sang in the choir and was always busy in the church and community. She prepared the dead for burial, and spent much of her time with the sick. She had a special gift for nursing and over a period of years "Grandmother Bushnell" was sent for whenever anyone in the little town had sickness or an accident. She had great faith and often went where others were afraid to go. Once she went into the home of Robert Edwards where they were all down with diphtheria. Her daughter, Elizabeth, told how she cried and begged her mother to come home when she came to the fence to see how her own family was getting along, but she could not leave for even the mother was down. As the children got well they were sent to relatives and neighbors, while she continued to care for the very sick mother. When the mother died she prepared her body for burial. Men came with the coffin to the door, but did not want to come in. She told them to tie handkerchiefs over their mouths and come and lift the body into the coffin, saying, "This is one thing I cannot do alone." She fumigated her clothing by burning sulphur in a room. She never refused to help people until her children, because of her age, refused to let her keep going. She will always be remembered for her pleasant countenance, her kind, gentle and loving ways. She always thought of others.

She washed, pulled and carded the wool that made their clothing and bedding. When the woolen mills opened in Provo they had blankets, as well as wool filled quilts, made from their own wool, for grandfather and his sons had gone into the sheep business. They took all the sheep owned in Meadow to care for. Unfortunately her husband died in 1882, leaving the boys to carry on with their mother's help. She was always interested in what they did, and lived for 40 more years to guide them. She held them together in love and confidence that was inspirational. They were known as the Bushnell Brothers, and were united by that great love and devotion which she instilled in every one of her children. She taught them honesty, integrity, and devotion, and they were known for these qualities. Her troubles were many, but she often said the loss of her mother was the greatest sorrow in her life, and it steeled her for those that followed.

JOHN BUSHNELL

She died in Meadow on September 16, 1926 at the age of 88, at the home of her daughter, Elizabeth Bennett. She left seven of her eight children, seventy-five grandchildren, one hundred and sixteen great grandchildren, and one great-great grandchild.

Amy writes of her father: "My father John Bushnell was the oldest child of John and Elizabeth (Brockbank) Bushnell, born in 1856 at Fillmore, Millard Co., Utah. He was always studious and had a wonderful memory. His mother said he read everything he could find. At the age of twenty, in 1876, he graduated from the University of Utah as one of the first graduates, receiving a normal certificate of education. He then taught school in Meadow from 1876 to 1880. On 9 June 1880 he married Elizabeth Ferguson. They had four sons and four daughters. He sent three of his sons on foreign missions. Soon after his marriage he and his wife moved to Kanosh and managed the new Co-op Store. In 1884 they moved back to Meadow and went into the farming, sheep and cattle business.

"He was a very kind and generous man, truly a peacemaker. Everyone who knew him loved him. Many a weary soul came to his door for help which they always received. One week before his death he suffered a stroke. Then every adult Lamanite from the Piute Reservation came to pay their respects. Many tears were shed as they remarked, 'Heap good man.' He truly 'lived in a house by the side of the road and was a friend to everyone.'"

Inez writes of her father: "My father Edward Brockbank Bushnell, was born in Fillmore, Utah. When he was the age of two the family moved to Meadow, Utah. His early years were years of privation and hardships. He and his brother Isaac drove freight wagons from York to the mining camp in Pioche, Nevada. He had very little schooling, yet few men were better read. He taught his children right principles and that God did not expect perfection in his children but he did expect them to keep trying.

"In the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints he was a Seventy and did a great deal of ward teaching. He was President of the town board, the irrigation company, and served as county commissioner. He was on every committee to sell war bonds during the first World War. His greatest assets were honesty and kindness. He always had a collection of human derelicts who found a place in his heart. He gave them a home and work. He died 22 Feb. 1935. The greatest tribute paid him was that, 'He built his home by the side of the road and was a friend to man.' At least that was the one he would have liked best."

Through his studies and activity in the Church he received a testimony of the truth of the gospel and always bore a strong one. He held many positions in the Church, including High Councilman of the Millard Stake. He served faithfully for years as Ward Teacher. Perhaps his greatest accomplishment was the rearing of a large family who were taught to love the gospel and take an active part in it. Several filled foreign missions.

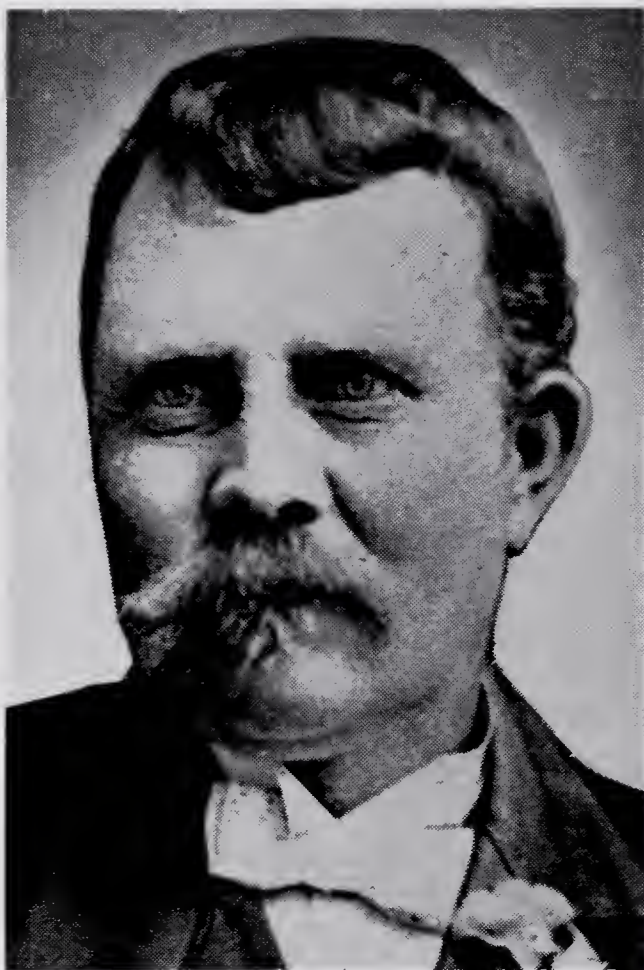

"His goodness of heart, his kindness, patience and love endeared him to everyone. His home and heart were always open to those in need; many were helped thereby. His life was a long and useful one to his community and fellowmen."

SECTION VI

JOSHUA BROCKBANK

By Lois (Brockbank) Rowe

On May 15, 1848, at Liverpool, England, Joshua Brockbank was born to Isaac and Elizabeth (Mainwaring) Brockbank. Isaac Sr., had joined the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in 1843, after hearing Parley P. Pratt speak. Before that time he had been a very active member in the Wesleyan Methodist Church, and it was there he became acquainted with his wife. She was a zealous member of the church and was not converted to the new religion in any way. She was still loyal to the Methodists and used every means in her power to thwart her husband in his purposes, and hated every person who had anything to do with the Latter-day Saint Church. When Isaac made arrangements to go Utah, Elizabeth was very bitter and tried in every way to get the children to remain with her and let the father go, but when the children were determined to leave, she consented to go too, but only on account of the children. After nine years of longing to go to Zion, they set sail from Liverpool on the Ellen Maria, on 11 February 1852.

Elizabeth was very discouraged because of the many hardships. She had left all the comforts of life at her home in Liverpool, and she was unhappy and bitter. As they journeyed on across the plains, the women often spent their time gathering berries and wild currants. One day while they were traveling near Fort Laramie, Wyoming, she took Joshua by the hand and dipped a shining tin cup into a stream and gave him a drink of water. Then she told him to get in the wagon with his baby sister, Agnes, while she gathered some berries. Elizabeth, his sister who was twelve, would take care of the children. The company went on for about two miles before they found out she wasn't with them. She did not come nor answer their calls, so they became alarmed and terrified. The company stayed and searched for her for three days. Then Isaac and Brother Layton went back fifty miles to Fort Laramie to see if they could learn of her there. They returned sad and disheartened. No one knew why she left the train, whether it was intentional or otherwise, but to this day we have never heard a word. Borken-hearted and worried they started west again, and arrived in Salt Lake in September of 1852. Joshua was four and Agnes about one.

The family remained in Salt Lake for one month, during which time Isaac Sr. married his second wife, Sarah Brown, and then they came south with ox team and settled in Palmyra. They took off their wagon box and put up a small tent, and went to work digging a cellar for a shelter for the winter. Joshua endured all the hardships of other pioneer children. He seldom wore shoes and he remembered going on cold, frosty mornings barefoot to hunt the oxen which were turned out at night to feed. He would run a short distance, then sit down, take his hat off and rub his feet briskly until they were warm enough so he could run again. Often he found the oxen as far away as the mouth of Spanish Fork Canyon.

He helped his father on the farm, but he felt that his father and stepmother were too severe with him so, when he was fourteen, he decided to find an easier life and go to Meadow, 112 miles south, and live with his sister, Elizabeth. He told his stepmother and she gave him some cookies and a blanket. He started out alone and on foot. He walked as far as Nephi, about 32 miles, but was so tired that he decided to spend his only dollar for a ride on the stage. This took him as far as Fillmore. He was still about eight miles from his destination, but it was a bright moonlight night so he decided to go on. He reached Meadow very early in the morning and was surprised to see a light in one of the houses. He decided to peep in the window, and maybe he could ask where his sister lived. To his surprise it was his sister's home.

When he came back to Spanish Fork, and the Indians were causing trouble, he took an active part as picket guard. He was a soldier in the Black Hawk Indian War and went to Sanpete and Sevier Counties to help in the battles, and was active in the Diamond Creek Battle. He said that he was not afraid of the Indians but always tried to gain their confidence. He could speak some of the Indian language, and used several of their expressions all of his life. He lived to be the oldest veteran of the Black Hawk War and was the last survivor.

When he was nineteen he married Sarah Ann, who was 17. He used his own team and wagon to make the trip to Salt Lake, and it took four days because it was raining and muddy. They lived with his father and stepmother. He went to work on different farms, and helped his father too. Then he went to Echo Canyon to work on the railroad. He later bought a lot at 1st East and 1st North, where he lived the rest of his life. He bought five acres of land west of town from his father. Later he bought land on the bench, in the river bottoms, and the new survey.

Sarah Ann always worked very hard. She took wool from the sheep's back, spun, colored it, and made clothes and knitted all the stockings for their family. She was always busy. You could never go to their home without being made welcome to dine with her.

Joshua was a policeman of Spanish Fork for ten years. He was also city pound keeper and was city watermaster for several years. He also operated a butcher shop at one time. He was a member of the choir and enjoyed singing — to the last days of his life. He was a High Priest in the church. He was interviewed over KOVO Radio Station in Provo, Utah on his 92nd birthday.

In August of 1883, his right leg was badly broken. He was hauling grain and the wagon ran off the bridge; the bone was splintered. They decided to take off his leg, but his wife would not consent to this. He was helpless the entire winter, and then on crutches for two years. That leg was always two inches shorter than the other. He met with many accidents in his life, (nearly every bone in his body had been broken at one time or another.) While he was laid up with this broken leg Sarah Ann took in washings, ironings, dried peaches, apples, etc., on shares, so they could get the necessities of life.

He worked many winters in the canyons cutting trees for the saw mills. His wife died in 1928 very suddenly. A neighbor who lived by her said she never saw her with a soiled apron or dress on. (Whenever I think of Grandmother I can see her spotless white apron, with wide crocheted lace or insertion set in. She always wore a velvet ribbon at her throat and her ears were pierced and she wore small gold hoop earrings. She always had a smile on her face, and her voice was kind and sweet, and I never heard it raised in anger. She always had time to stop and talk and explain away any problems we had. She always made us feel wanted and that we were important. She was a wonderful cook and she seemed to be always making something to take to someone who was ill or in trouble. She was an immaculate housekeeper and never had anything bad to say about anyone.)

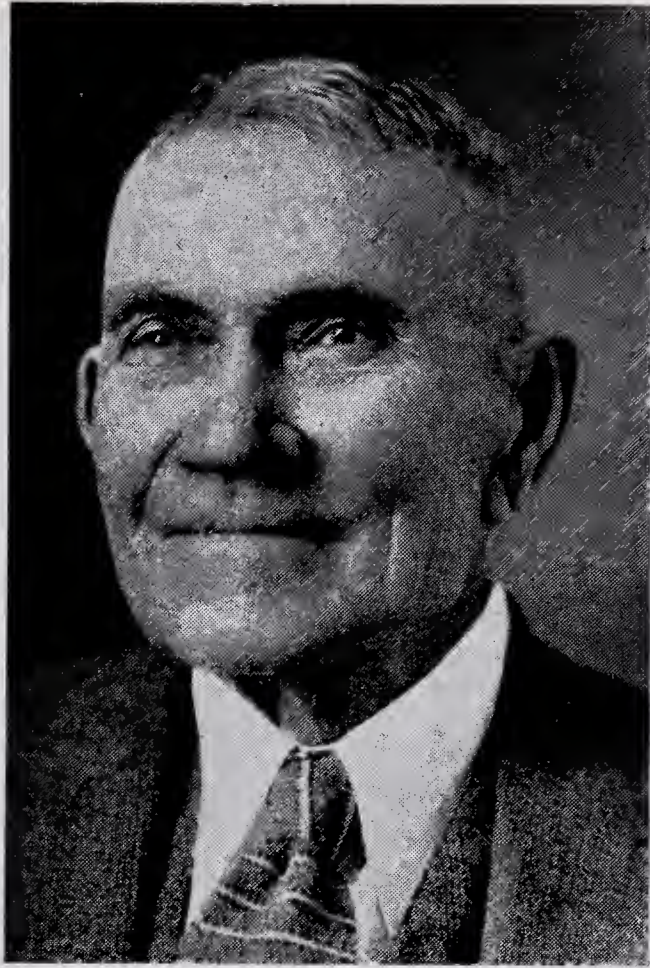

She was always active in church work, and was an honest tithe payer. She helped every missionary that left Spanish Fork, whether she knew them or not. She loved to attend Sacrament Meeting, and taught her children right living, by every word and action. She had a host of friends.

After her death, Joshua was lonely but very independent. He lived in part of the house and rented the two front rooms for several years, and sort of "batched" it.

He was very frail in his body, in 1938, but he never complained. He was not in any pain but just tired out. He always had the best of care, but every day the family could see him weakening. On 13 January 1941 he died.

He was a man of order. He liked a good joke and was always jovial with his friends. He used to love to sit out on the lawn and watch people go by and talk with them. Sometimes when they would ask him how he felt he would say, "I ain't ready to croak yet — I would just as leave stay a little longer." When he was ready for bed he would say, "Well, Kid, I think I'll go to roost." When people would come to see him he was apt to say, "Come in and look out." Or else "If you ain't to home you'd oughta be." When someone asked him his age he would say, "I'm 90 years young," or however age he was at the time.

He was thrifty and saving. He was very honest and never owed anyone. He sometimes growled over a bill, but he always paid it. He never cheated any person out of a cent wilfully. He was truthful and dependable. He helped the widows and worthy poor but he didn't make any show of what he did. What he said he meant.

He was a farmer and lived at Spanish Fork, Utah County, Utah. He d. 15 July 1947 and was buried at Spanish Fork, Utah County, Utah.

In her ninetieth year, Sarah Ann Eliza Brockbank Hales, still displays the traits of character which have sustained her through a remarkable lifetime.

As the wife of idealistic Bishop George Hales, she took the responsibility for the management of the family's temporal necessities. Her ability to efficiently organize first evidenced itself when her husband left her with one son and another on the way while he filled a mission to New Zealand. It enabled her to rear eleven children in whom she instilled the fear of God, love of work, and the desire to better themselves. Besides her own large family, at one time or another, she made a home for seven other people. She served as a Relief Society president and is still a visiting teacher. Gardening, church, family service and a keen interest in the world around her fill her life today.

Joshua (2), Isaac Sr. (1)

B. 26 June 1873, at Spanish Fork, Utah County, Utah; dau. of Joshua and Sarah Ann Traxon (Jex) Brockbank; she was bap. 1881 and end. and sealed to husband 30 May 1893; she md. 30 May 1893 at Manti Temple to JOHN WALTER ROACH s. of William and Ruth (James) Roach Sr. He was b. 7 Feb. 1860 at Spanish Fork, Utah County, Utah; and end. 30 May 1893. They lived at Spanish Fork, Utah

County, Utah. He was a farmer and contractor. He d. 7 April 1931 and she d. 5 May 1919. They were buried at Spanish Fork, Utah Co., Utah.

When age 5 she had whooping cough, developed pneumonia from it. In 1880 she had diphtheria. They sent for Wm. H. Dargar to administer to her because she was so ill. He came and Vilate's mother said he was too late, she was dead. They administered to her, she rallied and the doctor came and put snuff in her nose. She was too weak to have her throat swabbed. She sneezed over and over until the loose membrane came up. As a young woman she had had a growth on her left shoulder — it was cancer. Through much prayer and work of the doctor she seemed to get well.

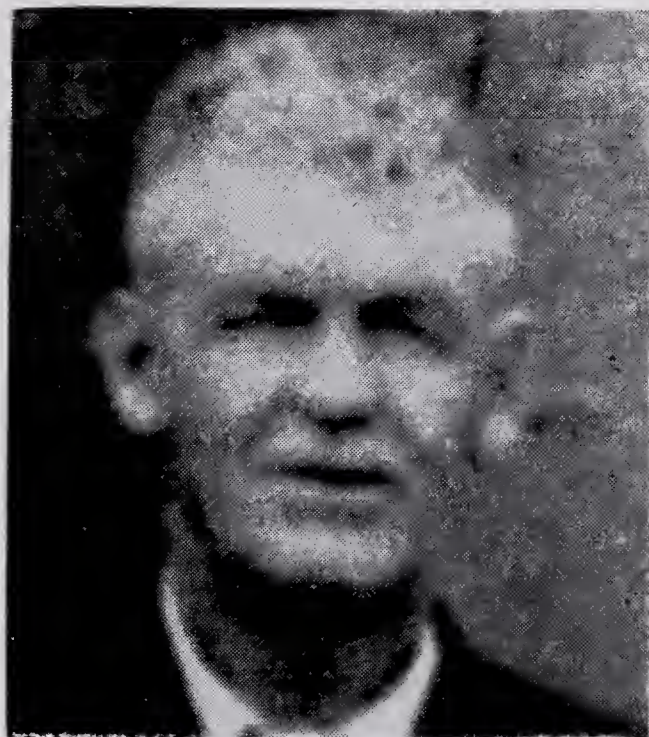

She went as a cook on a railroad construction group and there met her husband to be, John Walter Roach.

She was teacher of a religion class, worked in Primary and Relief Society. She was a hard worker, good natured and helpful whenever she was needed. She was patient, sweet and always had time to help anyone, never said anything but good about people.

She died after suffering much from cancer. He died from a stroke.

He was b. 7 Oct. 1881 at Spanish Fork, Utah Co., Utah; bap. 7 Aug. 1890 and end. 27 Sept. 1905. He d. Oct. 1944 and was bur. at Spanish Fork, Utah Co., Utah. She lives at Spanish Fork, Utah. They were divorced.

She writes: "I had my share of pioneer experiences while I was a girl. Being baptized in the old mill stream where our present seminary now stands, and this after my eighth birthday in November, is an occasion I will long remember. School days were shortened because of the necessity to help at home. Early in my teens I left home to help cook for approximately thirty men who were working on the railroad. The work was hard and the pay one dollar per day.

"I was married in 1905 but in 1915 I was separated from my husband and left alone to raise my seven children. At the time the youngest was eight weeks old and the oldest nine years old. This was indeed a struggle, but through the wonderful help of family, relatives and friends we were able to bridge the gap. We worked together and learned to appreciate and be thankful for what we did have and not feel bad for the things we didn't have.

"I miss very much my son, Jex, who died in June of 1958. He was always so thoughtful and kind to me.

"Surely the Lord has been good to me all through the years for which I am very thankful."

In fact, at thirteen years of age, he helped at the old Spanish Fork Pavilion, selling tickets, checking hats and selling soda pop. At fourteen, he owned and operated his own bicycle shop where he repaired and sold bicycles. At sixteen he was Newsbutcher on the Southern Pacific Railroad running between Utah and Idaho.

"His experience working on farms in Idaho between runs gave him a basis for the grain business which he went into at the time of his marriage. He later built his own business, the Utah Idaho Flour and Grain Co. Then during the depression he established the Magic Chemical Co. which became the center of other enterprises.

"At his death he was a member of the Utah Manufacturers Ass'n, Bonneville Knife and Fork Club, National Sanitary Supply Ass'n, Ambassador Athletic Club, and the Salt Lake Executives Ass'n. He was co-owner of the Utah Duck Club, the Sunset Motel in Idaho, and had built the Brockbank Professional Bldg. next door to the Magic Chemical Co.

Gradually her heart became affected. According to doctors orders, mustard plasters were applied nightly in her later teens. Her entire system became weakened. When appendicitis struck in her twentieth year, it proved fatal. She would not consent to an operation. She passed away 30 June 1915 just ten days before her twenty-first birthday. He died 21 March, 1888, at Ephraim, Utah, and was buried on March 24 at Richfield. Agnes lived to be 82 years old. Albert K. Thurber md. (A) Thirza Malvina Berry, by whom he had eleven children.

Agnes was one year old when her mother was lost or left the immigrant wagon train while journeying to Salt Lake. Her father had accepted the gospel in Liverpool and the family had sailed on "Ellen Maria" on February 11, 1852, where they wished to join the main body of the church. Her mother was lost near Fort Laramie.

It is known that Elizabeth Mainwaring came from a wealthy, aristocratic family who had large estates at Liverpool, England. The family objected to her uniting with the Mormon people. When she was lost on the plains the report went back to her people that the Mormons had done away with her, and this was their belief until her brother, Josiah Mainwaring, came to America years afterward and found that story to be untrue.

Her father soon married (B) Sarah Brown and the family moved to Spanish Fork, where Agnes grew to young womanhood, helping in supplement the family income. She learned to work and be industrious every way she could to supplement the family income. She cared for the younger children a great deal, did her own sewing at the age of fifteen years. She attended school part of the time. She said that she learned how to crochet, knit, do tatting and netting, and making gloves and sewing when only eight or nine years old. All sewing was done by hand as they had no sewing machines and generally had to make their own cloth from wool which had to be prepared by washing, carding, spinning and weaving into cloth. At the age of 16 she became the second wife of Bishop Thurber. His first wife, Thirza, had eleven children, some older than Agnes at the time of her marriage. Agnes was the mother of four children. Sarah was born and died prematurely in Salt Lake City. Isaac Erin, Bertha Malvina and Joshua Albert were all born in Richfield.

When her husband was called to southern Utah, Agnes went with him. Albert K. Thurber was called by Pres. Brigham Young to go to Piute County to have charge of the Indians. In 1874 he moved to Richfield, Sevier County where he was asked to remain and assist Pres. Joseph A. Young in organizing the United Order which was being established and he was very active in all pioneering activities, being a natural leader and willing worker. He secured land in Grass Valley in Piute County and built a home there and Agnes and her family lived at this place for ten years. It was about thirty-five miles south and east of Richfield, over a range of mountains.

She lived for a time in Grass Valley in the little village of Greenwich, a branch of Koosharem Ward. Grass Valley was a cold section in the winter, but in the summer there was an abundance of green meadowland which furnished hay and good pasturage for the cattle, sheep and horses. Dairying was the principal occupation. Here she was appointed treasurer of the Relief Society and also secretary of the Sunday School. During the time the Edmunds-Tucker bill was being enforced forbidding plural marriage, her husband was being hunted and worried by marshals but was never arrested. School advantages were rather poor, as they usually had only one ten-week term during the year. Her husband was president of the Sevier Stake at the time of his death, and had been active in the church all of his life.

Agnes was a Relief Society worker practically all of her life. She joined the Relief Society at Spanish Fork when she was fifteen years old and assisted as a Relief Society teacher soon after this. In 1892 she was chosen president of the Primary of Richfield. She held this position for two years and then was sustained as president of the Relief Society. She held this position for ten years. The ward was a large one. About 1901 the ward was divided into three wards and Agnes was retained as president of the Third Ward Relief Society for one year in order to help divide the property and get the business fixed up.

Her daughter Bertha married and moved to Idaho in 1904. Erin and Joshua wanted to move there too, so in 1906 Agnes sold her home and moved with them to Manard. She secured land for herself and also assisted them in starting their homes.

The Manard ward was organized on July 21, 1907. Agnes was made president of the Relief Society. She held this position until August of 1913, when she was honorably released as she wished to go to Utah for the winters where the weather was milder. She kept house for her brother Isaac at Cottonwood, Utah, for two winters while his wife was in California. She did some work in the Salt Lake Temple during her stay in Utah. The winters of 1926-27 she kept house for her brother Joseph at Spanish Fork. He had lost his wife and his daughter Mary was ill with heart trouble. She made a good many trips between Utah and Idaho, spending the winters working in the Salt Lake Temple, and the summers in Idaho with her children. The last few years of her life she was in very poor health, had a bad cardiac condition and a stomach disorder. Her daughter, Bertha, was called to Salt Lake and took her back to Idaho where she cared for her most of the time for two years. Her health improved and she wished to go back to Utah and spend as much time as possible working in the Temple for her dead ancestors, a work she seemed to enjoy very much.

Her son, Joshua, took her to Salt Lake in June of 1933. In August she went to Richfield and attended the Black Hawk Reunion. She enjoyed this very much as she was back in her home town and meeting with old friends and relatives. In Salt Lake she had a comfortable apartment near the Temple where she worked. Luvian Bates was her roommate and they were happy and enjoying their work. On Saturday, November 25, she fell on the sidewalk as she was returning home from a shopping trip. She was taken to her apartment and helped into bed. Pneumonia developed and she died on November 30, at the age of 82 years and 5 months. She was buried at Richfield on December 3, beside her husband from whom she had been separated for over forty-five years.

Agnes was honest, upright, her faith in the Gospel unshakeable, her integrity of purpose unquestioned. She always endeavored to do what she felt to be right.

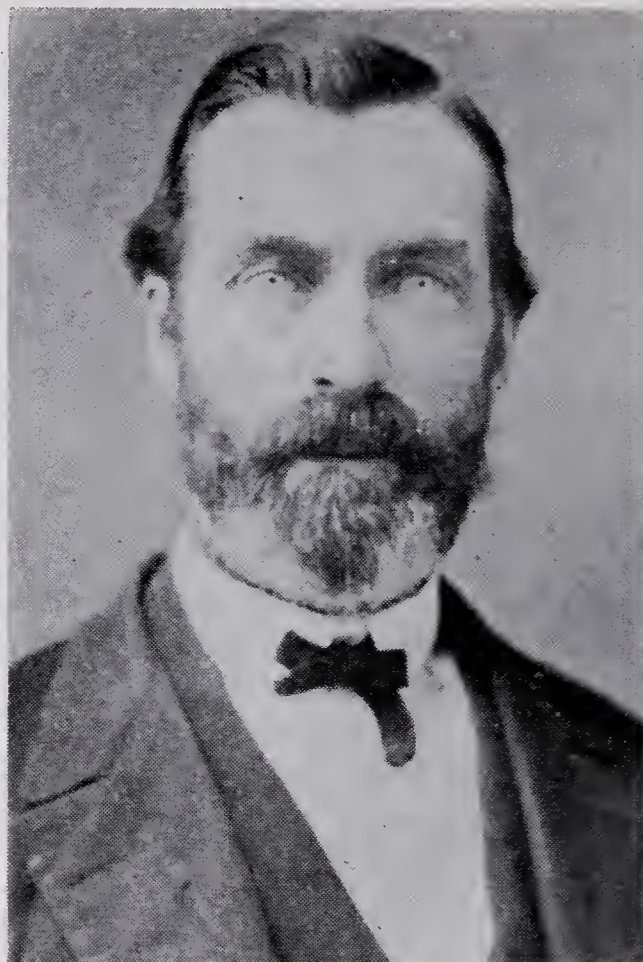

As a little girl, my special memories of her include: How she urged us to study and read good books. My visiting her at her little home where she lived alone for a time. This home was about a block from our school house. It seems to me that her little home was neat and nice but had very little furniture.

In about 1919, when she was living with us in Boise, one cold day she slipped on the ice and in falling broke her hand — it took so long to heal.

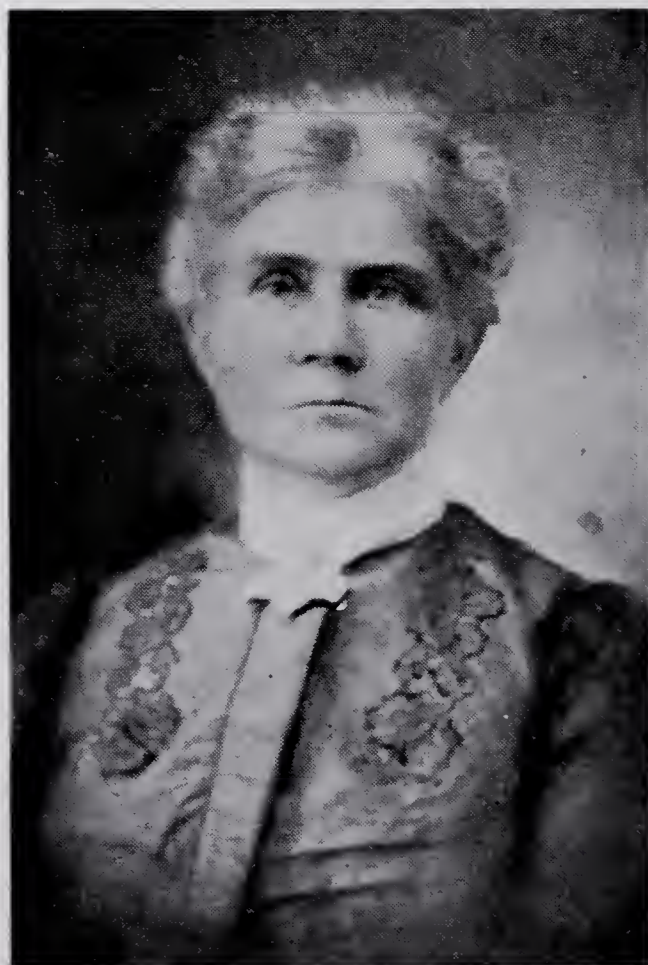

During the same year, before we had a bathroom put in our house, she was having a bath in the wash tub, in the kitchen. I remember the blankets draped on chairs around the tub, grandmother sitting on a chair with her feet in the tub, how she removed one arm and leg from her garments, bathed them, then put on clean ones before she removed the soiled garments from the other side. She did not seem to mind having me there, as she gave me a gentle little talk on modesty, about how she was careful to keep her body covered.

In 1920, during her son Erin's last illness, one day he was especially bad and neither the doctor nor member of the Priesthood was available for a time. I remember her telling him that anyone with faith could ask a blessing for him. He consented, and she did so, but was very tired and weak for some time afterward, but he was better for the time being.

SECTION VIII

SAMUEL BROCKBANK

By Mary Brockbank Creer and Wells T. Brockbank

Samuel Brockbank was born in Palmyra, near Spanish Fork, Utah. He was the first while male child born along the Spanish Fork River when the first settlement was made. His early life was spent on the farm. He never fought the Indians, but he was a guard and helped herd the cattle and horses. He helped build roads, canals, homes and did some freighting — hauling timber from the saw mills, in which he spent some time cutting the lumber. His desire was to get an education and learn a trade or a business. There were no schools, except in some of the homes of the parents. Teachers were a premium and no one had enough money to employ them. But where there's a will there's a way.

Soon after Palmyra was settled (quoting from the Spanish Fork Press, January 31, 1957, Education Week) schools were begun in the homes of the settlers. Albert K. Thurber (husband of Aunt Agnes Brockbank Thurber) and Wilas Hillman taught at different times. Books were few and the Bible and Book of Mormon were sometimes used as textbooks. In March, 1862, Spanish Fork was divided into two school districts and a huge sum of $25 was appropriated to each school district.

The Young Men's Academy, started by Samuel Brockbank, George H. Brimhall and others was perhaps the grandfather of Spanish Fork High School. Students met in a log building. This building was moved to the City Park and now houses the old relics, etc. A bronze plaque was placed on the building by the Daughters of the Pioneers, with the following inscription:

No. 192. Erected 1953. THE OLD ACADEMY.

"In 1872 a group of young men organized a debating and public speaking society with George H. Brimhall, President. They erected this building. Samuel Brockbank had charge of getting the logs and construction. John F. Gay, carpenter; Nicholas Smith, time keeper. Twenty-five shares at $15 each were subscribed. A stove, teacher's desk and blackboard were purchased — cost $675.00. School opened February 3, 1873. Wm. Beesley, instructor. Each student bought a desk. Building used for meetings, school and library. Moved to Park February 22, 1932. Spanish Fork Camp, Utah County."

Samuel was nineteen years old when he entered the school and night school was all that he could afford to attend. Although his school days were numbered, his interest in education continued. He later served four terms as trustee of the school district. Many young people thanked him for encouraging them to remain in school as long as possible.

It was about this time in life when he met Mary Jane Thomas, and after a short courtship they were married in the Endowment House in Salt Lake City by Daniel H. Wells. Jane, as she was called, was the eldest child of James Sylie Thomas and Mary Elizabeth Koyle. There were four girls and seven boys born to this pioneer couple. The mother died when the last son, David, was born.

Father and mother thought a great deal of one another. Father used to brag a little about mother, saying that he had the best cook in the world and the greatest peacemaker. He wanted a home for his new bride so in the winter months of 1877 he went to the old mill, cut down the trees and sawed them into boards to build a home. In September, 1879, their first child, Mary, was born in the new home. It was located at 609 East 1st North, in Spanish Fork.

Father and mother were not to enjoy their new home very long. Grandma Thomas died when her eleventh child, David, was born, leaving this large family with Grandfather Thomas. Father and mother gave up their new home and went to live with grandfather and his children. David lived only three years, and at this time grandfather accepted a call for a mission to Scotland.

On grandfather's return home father built the brick home on the corner of Center Street and 1st West, one block west of the City Park. In this home Samuel, Jennie, Clara, Grace, Wells, Wallace, and granddaughter, Lois, were born. Many happy hours were spent in this home, not only by members of the family, but it became a center for gathering of the young people. Father loved to have the children bring in their friends and he and mother would stay up nights and prepare an oyster stew or sandwiches and cake for the evening's refreshment. Many leaders of the church found shelter, food and protection in this humble home.

In April, 1891, father left home for a two-year mission to England. Wells was just one month old. John Robertson and father had a little blacksmith and wheelwright business on the corner of Main and Center Street. Brother Robertson thought he could send father money each month to help him on his mission, but things went wrong and when father returned, the business was closed with a lot of bills due. Father could not collect, so he had to go back to farming, which he did not like too well.

Uncle Joseph Brockbank and father farmed together for many years. They worked hard and were loyal and devoted to one another and our families were very close to each other.

Father soon found plenty to do in the community and in the church. He was school trustee for four years, city councilman, two terms, head of the water works department, and member of the Strawberry Irrigation committee. He was an ordained Seventy and prized most highly his calling to the Priesthood.

He was superintendent of the Spanish Fork Sunday Schools, which embraced the entire town. Later he was president of the M. I. A. and member of the Stake Board of the M. I. A. When Nebo Stake was organized, he was chosen Stake Sunday School superintendent, which included Tintic on the south to Spanish Fork on the north. For many years he was chairman of the Old Folks Committee.

The Deseret News published this closing sentiment:

"Samuel Brockbank, prominent man, dies at Spanish Fork, June 7, 1917. This town is mourning today over the loss of one of the most prominent citizens and builders, Samuel Brockbank. His activity in social, religious, educational and civic affairs of this city brought him into constant prominence. His integrity and sterling qualities endeared him to the entire community. He was a stalwart citizen, devoted husband, loving father and faithful friend. He left a valued legacy in an honored name to his highly respected family. He died at his home."

The above statements have been collected by members of his family now living: Mary Creer, Grace Gardner, Wells Brockbank, Wallace Brockbank and Lois Bowen.

SECTION IX

HISTORY OF JOSEPH BROCKBANK

By Hazel (Brockbank) Bowen and Ivan Edward Hall

In August, 1852, Apostle George A. Smith located the townsite of Palmyra about three miles northwest of the present site of Spanish Fork. Joseph's parents came to the new settlement to build their first home, which was a dugout. In the winter of 1854 they lived in the fort in Spanish Fork. The winters were severe and because of the many hardships grandmother was taken to Salt Lake City for the birth of Joseph, who was born six years to the day after Samuel.

One of Joseph's first responsibilities was to take his father's mules out to feed on the bench land. Early, as a barefoot boy, he was taught to plow the land apportioned to his father, which was about a mile southeast of Palmyra. His greatest fun activities were baseball and wrestling in which he took an active part until late in life. Clean sports and fair play always had great interest for him. The little white adobe school where the Thurber now stands is where he received his schooling. About the age of twenty-three Joseph was employed at the Gardner saw mills located up Spanish Fork Canyon. During this time he met Emma Jane McKell, who later became his wife. They were married in the Logan Temple on December 17, 1895. Two of Joseph's very close friends, Richard Money and David Banks, with their sweethearts, were married on the same date.

The Isaac Brockbank Sr. home, in which Joseph and Emma first lived, was an adobe house situated on the northwest corner of Main and Center Streets in Spanish Fork. Joseph was employed in the Spanish Fork Co-op granary chopping wheat and storing grain. A call came to go on a mission for the church, which he accepted. After the mission Joseph and his brother, Samuel, started farming together on land four miles east of town known as "the mouth of the canyon" land. Also, they farmed individual acreage in the west fields. Their main crops were grain, hay and sugar beets. During the planting and harvesting seasons the ordinary work day was at least sixteen hours. The Utah-Idaho Sugar Company employed Joseph as a field man to sample beets for ripeness and sugar content. He also planted beets for the company for many years. Much praise was given him for his ability to plant such straight rows. In their beginning farm experiences their equipment was very crude. A single share hand plow was used. Cradles were utilized to cut the grain and the bundles were tied by hand with a handful of grain. After it was dried, shocked and stacked it was threshed by horse power threshing machines, some of which required eight horses to operate. As new machinery was made available the brothers profited by the new equipment. When their children were old enough to help with the crops the joint land was divided and they farmed separately, always exchanging help. It was said that all the time they farmed together they never had cross words.

Details of the religious aspects of Joseph's life have been more easily obtained because of church records. On the 8th of September, 1868, he was baptized a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints by John Hopla, and was confirmed by Phillip Sykes on the same date. He was ordained a deacon at the age of twelve and a teacher two years later. On January 19, 1874, he was ordained a priest by George Wilkins. It was during this period of advancement in the priesthood that time was spent in studying the gospel. On 25 November, 1885, he was ordained an elder by George H. Brimhall. On 26 September, 1886, came his ordination to a Seventy by Charles Monk. The following year, 12 November 1887, Joseph received a call from President Wilford Woodruff to go on a mission to the Southern States. He was to leave Salt Lake City on 15 November, 1887. Joseph left his young wife and baby in Spanish Fork and reported in Salt Lake on November 14th. He was set apart for his labors by President H. S. Eldredge of the First Seven Presidents of Seventies. In part, his blessing reads: "We say unto you, in as much as you seek continually for the spirit of God and yield obedience there unto, you shall be blest with wisdom, knowledge and understanding; your mind shall be enlightened, your understanding enlarged, your tongue loosed and you shall be able to proclaim the principles of the everlasting Gospel in its fulness with ability and in a way that will win many souls to a knowledge of the truth, and you shall be astonished in your heart at your labors. You shall be shielded and protected from all harm, your life shall be precious in the sight of God and he will give his angels charge concerning you." This blessing was literally fulfilled and many others were bestowed on Joseph and his wife and son during the two years he labored in the mission field.

He made many good and lasting friends, also enjoyed numerous faith-promoting experiences during his travels as a missionary and had the opportunity of baptizing many converts into the Mormon Church. He traveled much without purse or scrip. Through Joseph's teaching and singing many families opened their doors to the truth and to other missionaries who followed. Upon returning home he bore a strong testimony of his blessings and to the truth of the restored gospel. He retained this strong testimony to the end of his life. He brought back with him some of the old ballads of Tennessee, such as "Ella Ree".

Joseph was honorably released to return home 19 November 1889. His letter of release was written by William Spry, who later became governor of Utah. The letter, in part, reads: "We trust that in returning home you will not lay off your armor nor slacken the zeal which has characterized your labors as a Herald of Truth." Joseph did continue his labors at home. Benjamin Argyle was ordained as Bishop of Second Ward by President Joseph F. Smith in 1902 and Joseph was chosen as his second counselor. First counselor, Marius Mickelson, moved to Mexico in 1903 and Joseph was chosen to be the first counselor and Hubbard Tuttle, Jr., was chosen as the second counselor. Joseph held this position until he was released on 24 September 1916.

In his church work he was called upon often to pray and to administer to the sick. He tried to live by principle and by example. When he sacked his grain for tithing or to sell he heaped his bushel up, saying, "Heap it up, press it down and let it run over." His wife was like this also; in selling her eggs she counted out the baker's dozen. They were thoughtful of friends and especially of those in need. When the pork or beef were butchered or the grist of grain taken to the mill or when the apples were gathered from the orchard they always had some to share.

Joseph was a faithful tithe payer not only in money but in produce paid at the time of harvest. Such church entries read: "Receipt No. 225 dated August 25, 1917, Spanish Fork Second Ward, Nebo Stake. This is to certify that Joseph Brockbank has voluntarily donated to the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints as tithing 3240 lbs. hay, 738 lbs. wheat, 375 lbs. oats, 556 lbs. barley. Henry A. Gardner, Bishop, received by J. E. Wilkins, Clerk."

During the building of the Second Ward Church, Joseph, with many other men, hauled the red sandstone from the quarries up the left hand fork of Spanish Fork Canyon. In the community Joseph was interested in its welfare and development. He served on the City Council. He was interested in the Strawberry Water Reclamation Project.

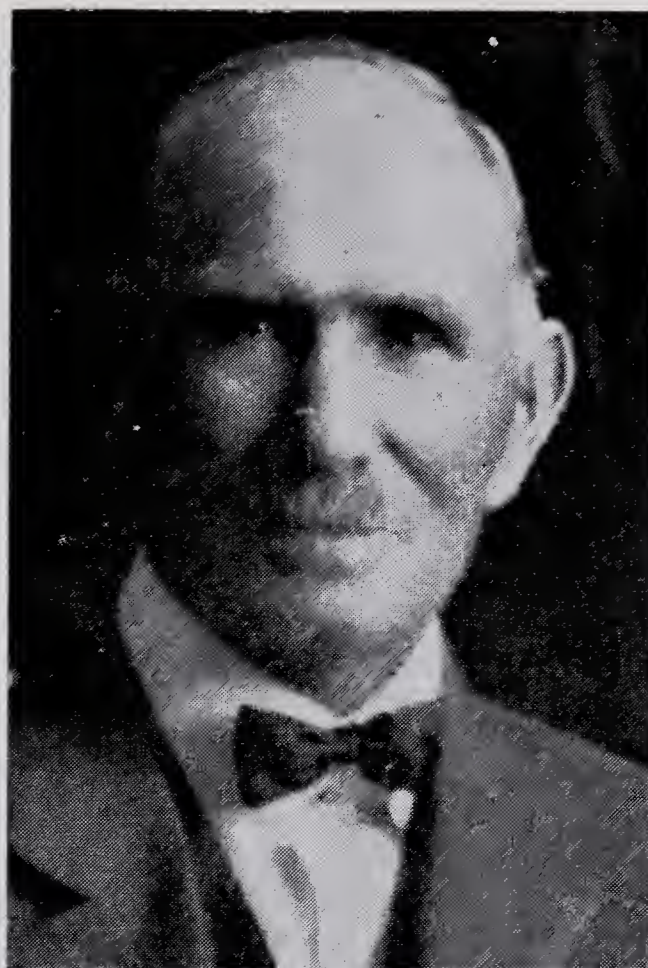

For entertainment they enjoyed gatherings of neighbors, family and friends. They attended dances in Morrison's Hall, picnics in the David pasture and bathing at Utah Lake. Joseph liked music. He had a beautiful baritone voice. Many church functions and home gatherings were closed with a song from him. Friends would say, "Let's have 'Shabby Genteel' from Uncle Joe."

Joseph and Emma Jane had born to them eight children. The first four were born in the adobe house on Main and Center Streets. On Thanksgiving Day, 1896, the family moved to a four-room brick house Joseph had built just two blocks west on Center Street. In this home the other children were born. Joseph and his wife remodeled and enlarged this home and lived there the remainder of their lives. They worked together in increasing their material holdings and assisting where help was needed in homes during sickness and death. Among their friends they were lovingly known as "Uncle Joey and Aunt Emmie."

On December 24, 1925, very suddenly Emma passed away. It was very difficult for Joseph to face the reality of her passing. They had sacrificed for their children, sending them on missions, to school, and helping to get married ones started out financially. They made a real home and taught by precept and example. They upheld the right in all family councils.

On March 4, 1941, his wife's birth date, at the age of 82 years, Joseph passed away. Funeral services were held in the Second Ward with Bishop H. Eugene Hughes presiding. He was buried in the Spanish Fork City Cemetery, 7 March 1941.

Joseph Brockbank was a man of few words but much action. His quiet but timely counsel to his children has had indelible effect. "Let your word be as good as any bond. Be honest. Remember in your dealings who you are and who you represent. Judge not. Be humble. Actions speak louder than words. Haste makes waste. Speak kindly."

SECTION X

MARTHA ANN BROCKBANK HALES

By Wayne B. Hales

Martha Ann was the youngest of five children. Her parents were immigrants from England in 1852 and settled in Palmyra, near Spanish Fork, in the fall of that year. Soon after the Indian troubles in that area were abated, the family built and moved into a little adobe house near what now would be addressed 28 West Center Street. Martha Ann was born in this house.

Her early education was very meager; she attended school for only a few months each year where she learned to read and write and a few rudimentary processes of arithmetic. She was fortunate to have at one time a few months of instruction under the tutorage of George H. Brimhall, a native of Spanish Fork, who later became president of Brigham Young University. She applied her meager education throughout her life in writing letters to her husband and loved ones and keeping the elementary household accounts, and reading stories to her children from the Juvenile Instructor and the Bible, spending many hours reading from its pages and telling its beautiful stories to her children.

Her social life was that common to all pioneer settlers — meeting young people at church gatherings; an occasional dance at Morrison's Hall on south Main Street where the music of a fiddle and piano kept them dancing sometimes until daybreak; a Sunday afternoon stroll in the summertime up Lovers' Lane, which was south and east of the city along the foothills; a bobsled party in the wintertime when there was lots of snow, good horses, plenty of straw, and quilts to make it exciting and comfortable.

Being the only daughter of Sarah to reach maturity, Martha Ann was very close to her mother. They enjoyed a lovely mother-daughter companionship through the years. After the death of Isaac, Sr., in 1878, this relationship was intensified and after Martha Ann married, Sarah lived much of the time with her daughter.

During her teenage years she learned to sew and cook and keep house with the limited facilities of a pioneer home. One who knew her best describes her as being "an industrious, honest, pleasant, modest, and prayerful lady, loved and respected by family and friends alike." She was small in stature, fine featured in the face, and active in body, and had a sense of humor which was characteristic of her family. Her stately figure, fair complexion, brown hair, and blue eyes made her a beautiful young lady.

"When she was not occupied with home duties, she would help relatives, neighbors and friends in their homes as needed. She learned in these early years the English way of life, adapted to western America, of frugality, industry, self-reliance, and mutual helpfulness — qualities of character that enabled her to meet the hardships and sorrows that came later in her life. She was active in M. I. A. work in her early years and always a Relief Society member and block teacher during the later years.

One day during her twenty-first year, she went to the Co-op store with a few eggs to buy bluing. Jonathan Hyrum Hales was there and asked her for a date to the forthcoming dance, which she accepted. This was the beginning of a short courtship which terminated in their marriage in the Salt Lake Endowment House. The marriage ceremony was performed by Daniel H. Wells.

Soon after her marriage she went with her husband to a place later called Hales Siding, halfway between PV Junction and Schofield. Here her husband was employed as section foreman on the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad. They lived in a four-room frame house and operated a boarding house for the twelve to fifteen men who maintained the railroad in that area. She spent the first four years, and the happiest years, of her married life at this place. Three babies were born to her during this time and she had the undivided love, attention, and providence of her husband whom she loved and served to a fault. From the beginning of their married life her husband had thoughts of a polygamous marriage and in 1886, with the consent of Martha Ann, he married his second wife, Hannah Trifena Davis. To share her husband and his love with another woman was a terrific sacrifice for her to make, but like many other pioneer wives, she accepted the sacrifice in the interests of promised rewards in the Celestial Kingdom.

During the years 1888 and 1889 while her husband served a mission in the Southern States, she maintained a residence in Spanish Fork, her home city. It was during this time that her mother died, and her second son, Roy, was born. She lived there two years with her little family on the meager savings they had and on the generosity of friendly neighbors and loving kinfolks.

At the death of her mother, the Brockbank estate was settled, from which she received an amount having a cash value of about $500. With this amount she and her husband purchased a lot and built a conventional four-room frame house that stands today at about 610 East Center Street in Spanish Fork. It was completed in December, 1893, just in time for Wayne to be born there. This little house was maintained as the family home until her death. It was a simple structure with a kitchen, parlor and two bedrooms. It contained no inside water, no bath facilities, no central heating, no telephone, no electric lights — no modern facilities as we know them today.

In fact, this home did not have a father and husband in it most of the time. Expedience forced the father to work in the mines in Eureka from 1895 to 1911. Since the family home for Martha Ann was established in Spanish Fork, it was easier to move the second, smaller family to Eureka. There Jonathan worked thirty days out of each month to provide shelter, food and clothing in the two homes which ultimately numbered 14 — six children and Martha Ann in the Spanish Fork home, and five children, Trifena, and the father in the Eureka home.

Being tied by the pressures of necessity, his visits to the Spanish Fork family were limited to the Christmas and Fourth of July holidays and to an occasional long shift-change period. Three events in the lives of the Spanish Fork children characterized this period — the trips to the post office for an expected letter containing a monthly subsistence check which failed to come more often than not, the monthly trip to the Larsen home for a box of groceries brought down from Eureka for the family use, and the long walk to the railroad station to meet the father as he detrained on one of his much-delayed visits to the Spanish Fork family. These visits were enjoyed by the children and Martha Ann and were always too short to satisfy anyone.

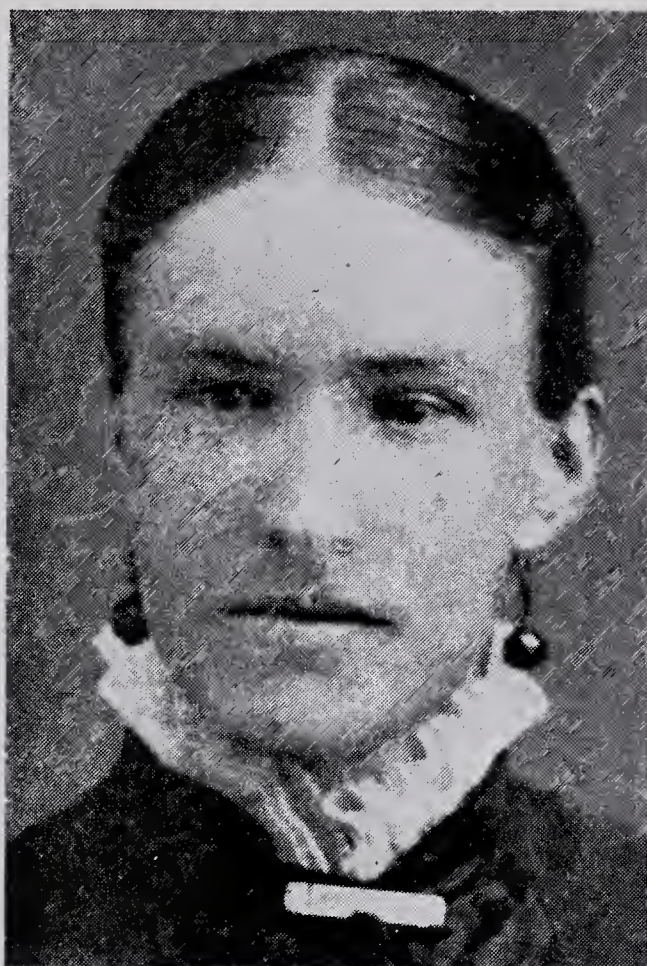

The location of her Spanish Fork home was a most favorable one. Here it was nestled among a group of the most wonderful neighbors whom Martha Ann loved and served and who gave great measure of love and kindness in return. They were the John Holts, the Henry Gardners, the Morris Martells, the Dave Lewises, the Carrie Holts, and many others a little further away. Sarah Ann Eliza Brockbank Hales was a great friend and companion of Martha Ann through the years. These two spent many hours in each others company and their families have grown up together and have become fast and true friends.

During the twenty-two years of Martha Ann's married life, she gave birth to ten children — seven sons and three daughters. Earl, Millard, Ralph and Hyrum died in infancy. The others have grown to adulthood and have reared fine families of their own. Her posterity as of this date numbers 10 children, 28 grandchildren, and 61 great grandchildren.

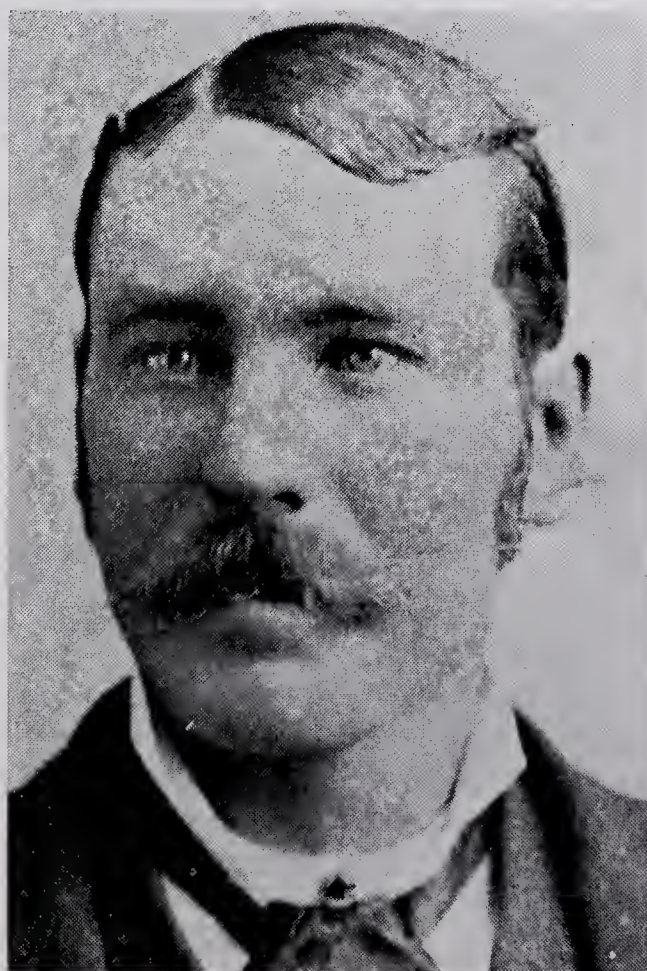

Throughout all the vicissitudes of her courageous and sacrificial life — her sharing of the love of her husband with another woman; her sorrow in burying four of her babies, sometimes alone; her struggle and sacrifice for the necessities of life for her little brood — she kept her head high, her heart strong, and her faith undaunted. She maintained a home of order and cleanliness, of honor and industry, of love and faith in God. The children who remember that home look back upon it in hallowed memory of that wonderful mother who gave her life to make it possible. Her memory has been as a guiding star to her children and an inspiration to all who knew her.

She died prematurely at the age of forty-four of dread pneumonia, whose fatalities were high in those days. A stone marks her resting place in the family burial lot in the Spanish Fork cemetery; but long after this stone has eroded away under the elements, her influence will be felt for good among her posterity.

She md. 19 June 1907 at Salt Lake Temple to RASMUS HANS NEILSON s. of Christian Emil and Christina (Knudson) Neilson. She d. 31 Oct. 1937 and was bur. at Spanish Fork, Utah Co., Utah.

Inez is best remembered for her high ideals and great ambition. She attended the Brigham Young University and became a school teacher. In 1907 she married Rasmus Hans Neilson and went with him to live on a ranch which he had homesteaded on the Strawberry River in Duchesne County. After being married only fourteen years, her husband was killed in a mine accident, leaving her with five children. The youngest was only nine months old.

She had taught school five or six years during her married life and now, less than two months after husband's death, she was teaching again. In 1924 she moved to Provo where she and her children could further their education, and started teaching at the Maeser School.

She continued her education by taking classes evenings and attending Summer Schools at the Brigham Young University. She graduated with a B.S. degree in June of 1935, at the age of fifty. She was very proud and happy on this occasion, particularly so because her eldest son, Clark, received his degree from the same school at the same time. Two of her daughters, LaRue and Mona, have also received college degrees, and following in their mother's footsteps, are teachers in the state of Utah. LaRue now holds a Master's' degree.

Martha A. (2), Isaac Sr. (1)

B. 2 Nov. 1895 at Spanish Fork, Utah Co., Utah; dau. of Jonathan Hyrum and Martha Ann (Brockbank) Hales; bap. 2 July 1904; end. and sealed to husband 15 June 1921. She md. 15 June 1921 at Salt Lake Temple to JOHN HAUBER BAUER s. of George Eberhard and Katherine (Hauber) Bauer. He was b. 12 Feb. 1898 at Payson, Utah Co., Utah; bap. 1 July 1906; end. 15 June 1921. They live at Salt Lake City, Utah. He works in the United States Post Office Department.

Jennie Hales Bauer was the youngest daughter of Martha Ann Brockbank and Jonathan Hyrum Hales, and was born in Spanish Fork on 2 November, 1895. At the age of ten, she lost the love and guidance of her mother. She moved to Eureka with the family in 1905. When only fifteen, she left school to go to work. At one time, she served as librarian for Rick's Normal College at Rexburg, Idaho.

She married John Hauber Bauer in the Salt Lake Temple on 15 June, 1921. Two intelligent, well integrated children were born to her, Mark Hales Bauer, an attorney for the Automobile Manufacturers Association in Detroit, Michigan, an active L. D. S. church worker both in ward and stake; and Gloria Dean Bauer Neilson, a registered nurse. Six grandchildren make life interesting.

Jennie serves her church and community well and is a never failing source of cheerfulness. She supported her husband for two years on a mission to Germany, and helped support her son on a two year mission in the Eastern States.

If all the choirs Jennie has sung in and all the people she has helped by a cheerful word were brought together, it would make quite a congregation to sing her praises.

She and her husband reside at Salt Lake City, Utah. Both are active members of Emigration Ward, Park Stake.
